

What's On Stage at the Rattlestick

Introducing the "Dirty Works" Series

January 2007

Wednesday January 24 through Monday February 5, 2007

Open to Public. Admission is Free (suggested donation $5, if you can)

Our new Dirty Works Series, which developed from our Exposure Festival, has a new energy and expanded focus under the direction of our new Associate Artistic Director, Lou Moreno. The first part of the festival (the two-week reading series) will continue to feature readings of new plays and works in progress by some of America's hottest new writers.

Special thanks to our new wine sponsor, William Hill Estate. Complimentary wine tasting will be available at readings with a valid ID.

Dirty Works' mission is to introduce newcomers to Rattlestick as well as create a safe environment where previously produced artists can try out departures from topics, styles or realms by which they may be defined. If you like our new readings festival, then keep your eyes out for future developments from our Dirty Works' Series. Our goal is to expose all theater artists (playwrights, directors, actors, and designers) to the truly collaborative production process at Rattlestick, where everyone will have a voice and can all roll up their sleeves, participate, and get their hands dirty.

Dirty Works Calendar of Events

\(click link above for RSVP page\)

All readings are at 7pm unless otherwise indicated:

- Wed 1/24: The People's Pimple by Sean Cunningham
- Thurs 1/25: Beautiful Day by A. Rey Pamatmat
- Fri 1/26: At Daybreak by Caroline Prugh
- Sat 1/27: Food Porn by Andy Bragen
- Wed 1/31: Accidental Rapture by Eric R. Pfeffinger
- Thurs 2/1 @ 4:30PM & 6:30pm: NYU Acting Showcase*
- Fri 2/2: Two new short plays by Bathsheba Doran
- Sat 2/3: The Apple Juice Man by Sarah Koskoff
- Mon 2/5: Real Deal by Sam Marks

*Kathleen Turner presents "The Practical Acting Showcase", a showcase of her NYU acting master class students.

Two Soldiers* and Sure Is Nice to Know You're Human
Directors include: Scott Embler, Lou Moreno, Kevin Newbury and Jake Witlen.

Plan a night out with friends and come see Lucy Thurber's STAY

It's not too early to plan your night out at our next mainstage production, Stay, by Lucy Thurber (Where We're Born) and directed by Jackson Gay (The Intelligent Design of Jenny Chow). Performances begin Thursday March 8. Performances are Wednesday through Saturdays @ 8pm and Sunday @ 7pm. If you would like help planning a special night out for a group in the West Village, contact Sandra Coudert (scoudert@rattlestick.org) for information about group rates and advice about local hot spots to hit before or after the show.

A haunting and beautiful new play, Stay is the story of a young writer who, in the darkest moments of her youth, discovered an angel. Having achieved success, she must learn to let go of this beautiful gift, all the while struggling to define and accept herself in the absence of this muse and savior.

Click Here to Buy Your Tickets Now

Or call SmartTix @ 212-868-4444

Special Tuesday March 13 pre-theater preview benefit

Click here for benefit tickets

CLICK HERE TO DONATE ONLINE NOW!
Help us to bring you tomorrow's playwrights today

To remove your name from our mailing list, please email info@rattlestick.org.

Questions or comments? E-mail us at info@rattlestick.org or call 212-627-2556 or Visit us at www.rattlestick.org